Missionary to MICRONESIA

Working with my husband for over 44 years on the Mission Field

October, 2025

Dear Pastors and Friends:

I was sitting in my chair in the living room and attempted to get up to return a glass to the kitchen. I felt myself fall and take a tumble in the floor. I didn't realize what happened, but after a few minutes I was able to get up and get the glass to the kitchen. I was dizzy and unbalanced. I couldn't remember where my phone was, but managed to stumble to my bed where I found my iPad on the bedside table.

My daughter, Darlene, was gone to west Florida for the day and I was all alone. I sent her a message telling her I seemed to have lost my balance and couldn't walk. The next thing I remember was my granddaughter, grandson-in-law and Darlene were there taking me to the hospital. It seemed I had a stroke and didn't realize it. Darlene and Ricky are taking care of me now and I have improved quite a lot. I have been able to walk a little with some help. I thank God for His help and thank you all for your prayers.

I am still working with Antoro and the College in Purworejo, Indonesia. They have added some more new students. I am also helping with the church in Saipan. Five new families have started to attend recently. I am also still working with Prihadi in his mission in Sragen. His grandson is doing well after his heart surgery.

In 2017, after David died, I was in the garage explaining to my 5-year-old great-grandson, Clay, what happened to his grandpa. I told him he had gone to heaven to be with God. He looked at me with big sad eyes and said he wanted to go to heaven with his Papaw to be with God too. I explained how he must accept Jesus as his Saviour before he could go to heaven. He bowed his little head and prayed for Jesus to save him. He was baptized several years later.

His mother just sent us this message: Clay just told us the verse he thought of before the football game today was Philippians 4:13. I about started crying and he also prayed the huddle out at the end of the game. They won their game 18-0. It's football season here. I am praying God will use him.

Thank you all for your continued prayers and gifts. May God continue to bless each of you.
